

A farmer once sat upon his seat,
 tilling fields and raking wheat,
 to feed family, friends, strangers too,
 reminding himself what hard work can do.
 He raised his kids, fed his wife
 giving thanks to God for a simple life.

Warren was born on August 20, 1923, to Sam and Catherine (nee Campbell) Robson on their homestead farm south of Jansen, where he was also raised. He attended Haliburton School for six years, then worked with his dad and other farmers. Several winters were spent in the bush camps of northern Ontario. On June 4, 1948, Warren married Elsie Koshinsky. They lived in a small house on the NW34-31-20 W2nd. In 1951, Warren and Elsie purchased the Mark Robson farm, SW34-31-20 W2nd, where they raised three boys, Ron, Stan and Dave. Warren was a member of the Alkali Savages Hockey Team and enjoyed many hours of hockey on Uncle Bill's outdoor skating rink. He was also a long-time member of the Haliburton Community Club and enjoyed good times at the Haliburton picnics. Warren loved his farming days. Many hours of field work were spent on his Deutz tractor, and his Gleaner combines were always ready to go. Even at the age of 92, Warren still went out to the farm and could be seen sitting on a five-gallon pail in front of the shop. Friends and family were always welcomed at their home with good times and lots of food. A game of cards, ball, and stories shared made many memories. Warren's life was blessed with many relatives and friends who came to know him and called him "Pops".

Warren leaves to mourn his wife of 68 years, Elsie (nee Koshinsky) Robson; their three sons: Ron (Carol) Robson, Stan Robson, and Dave (Gwen) Robson; four grandchildren: Craig (Mary), Jason (Cori), Allison (Shawn), and Darryl (Danielle); eight great-grandchildren: Michel, Chandler (James), Cade, Kaylin, Mesa, Ava, Keaton, and Andrew; and by a special nephew who became part of the family, Dwayne (Val) Koshinsky and their family, Kelly, Beth (Clark), and Emily. He was predeceased by his father, Sam Robson; mother, Catherine (nee Campbell) Robson; and by two sisters: Ruby (Bert) Wells, and Delle (Monty) Murray.

"We, the family of Warren Robson, would like to thank everyone for attending and sharing this time with us."
