

*At birth we boarded the train and met our parents,
And we believe they will always travel on our side.
However, at some station*

*Our parents will step down from the train, Leaving us on this journey alone.
As time goes by, Other people will board the train;
And they will be significant i.e. Our siblings, friends, children,
And even the love of your life.*

*Many will step down
And leave a permanent vacuum.*

*Others will go unnoticed
That we don't realize
They vacated their seats.*

*This train ride will be full of joy,
Sorrow, fantasy, expectations,
Hellos, goodbyes, and farewells.*

*Success consists of having a good relationship
With all passengers*

Requiring that we give the best of ourselves.

*The mystery to everyone is: We do not know at which station
We ourselves will step down. So, we must live in the best way, Love, forgive, and offer the best of who we are.*

*It is important to do this because when the time comes for us to step down
And leave our seat empty We should leave behind beautiful memories
For those who will continue on the train of life.*

I wish you a joyful journey on the train of life.

Reap success and give lots of love.

More importantly, thank God for the journey.

Lastly, I thank you For being one of the passengers on my train.

Steve was a quiet-spoken, well-seasoned, very interesting man who left his mark in every greeting and conversation. He loved his family, was very protective of his children, and loved to talk with and be around family and close friends. Steve also loved having friends over for dinner; he enjoyed good food and good drink. An avid outdoorsman, Steve had a passion for nature, farming and gardening.

He also loved picking wild mushrooms. Steve was a fisherman, through and through; he would jump at the opportunity to fish, especially with his favourite buddies Goldie and Morris, and was known for his master filleting skills. Throughout his life, Steve had on on-going thirst for knowledge and believed in life-long learning. He was a strong man who took pride in his work; he knew something about everything and could fix almost anything. Steve loved cars and could name any vehicle at first glance. He had a competitive side and loved to win, a characteristic anyone who played cards with him could attest to. Steve won the Watson Legion

Crib tournaments three years in a row. He also had a creative side, loved art, and quite enjoyed catering with Debra. He was the quality control person when the perogies were being made and took great pride in his designing of the fruit and dessert platters.

Fond memories of Steve will bring to mind how important Debra, the love of his life, was to him; the passion he had for his farm; the enjoyment he got from watching the hummingbirds and orioles in his yard, the pride he had in being well-dressed; and his pleasure in having a good drink of Scotch. "Steve was a good husband, father, and grandfather who left us too soon. There are many trips he hasn't yet taken, many restaurants he should frequent, many items he still needs to collect, and who will remind Debra to please, be patient?"

Steve will be lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife, Debra; daughter Taya; sons: Paul and Doug (Fay); and grandsons: Christopher and Eli.
