Life Ain't Easy

Well here I am in the wind again,
Floating where it takes me
Laughin' and a splashin' in the summer sun,
Until the alarm clock awakes me
Then it's coffee and a kiss and two cigarettes,
And I'm back out in the cold, cold weather
Chasin' my dream but I just can't seem to rub two coins together
Life ain't easy, they never said it would be Life ain't easy, whoever said it should be
Life ain't easy, and nothing comes free, free, free, free
Life ain't easy, tell me all about it
Life ain't easy, no, no, no, no
Life ain't easy, and nothing comes free, for you or me
That woman she don't understand, the way my mind keeps driftin'
And the Lord don't always lend a hand, when my poor heart needs liftin'
Is home and kids really all there is, or is there something better?
And how much soul must a poor man sell to rub two coins together?
Don't you know that
Life ain't easy, no, no, no, no
Life ain't easy, whoever said it would be
Life ain't easy, and nothing comes free, free, free, free
Life ain't easy, can you hear me
Life ain't easy, tell me all about it
Life ain't easy, and nothing comes free, free, free, free
Life ain't easy, tell me all about it
Life ain't easy, no, no, no, no
Life ain't easy, and nothing comes free, for you or me
Life ain't easy
Life ain't easy...

Joe, one of six children, was born to James "Lorne" Mower and Rosella Mary (nee Corley) Mower on August 24, 1959, in Kelvington, SK. In 1966, the Mower family moved to B.C. After several moves, Joe finished high school in Enderby, BC. Although he didn't fully complete his high school education, he got his GED and was incredibly proud, having not studied. Joe attained his millwright certification in 1995, thus enabling him to obtain many jobs. In the late 1970s, Joe and the family moved back to Saskatchewan. Joe held many jobs before becoming a full-time construction worker for Sask. Wheat Pool. He was employed at the Pool for several years. In 1983, Joe met the love of his life, Geralyn Engele, and they were married in 1984. Through that union, three children were born: Justin, Benjamin, and Virginia. After several years at the Wheat Pool, Joe took on a job at Reifferscheid's Construction, then Rudy's Roofing and, lastly, at Humboldt Rona Building Center. He continued his employment with Rona until his recent and early retirement. Before Joe's retirement, he became a proud papa to Lucas and Trista. Joe was a loyal and loving husband to his wife of 33 years, Geralyn; a caring but disciplinary father; and he was a pushover to his grandchildren.

Joe is survived by his wife, Geralyn (nee Engele) Mower of Humboldt, SK; their two sons, one daughter, and two grandchildren: Justin Mower of Humboldt, SK; Benjamin Mower (Natalie Fehr) of Saskatoon, SK; and Virginia (Kyle) Martin and children Lucas, Trista and baby on the way of Humboldt, SK; two sisters: Cindy (Doyle) Nordmarken of Kelvington, SK; and Joanne (Denis) Schedlosky of Humboldt, SK; brother-in-law, Terry Perrault of Airdrie, AB; sister-in-law, Kathy Mower-Berlingette of Revelstoke, BC; members of the Engele family: parents-in-law, Roland and Mildred Engele of Humboldt, SK; sister-in-law, Valerie Engele of Carmel, SK; brother-in-law, Danny Engele of Saskatoon, SK; sister-in-law, Paulette Engele of Saskatoon, SK; and several aunts uncles, nieces, nephews, great-nieces, great-nephews, cousins, and friends. He was predeceased by his parents, James "Lorne" and Rosella Mary (nee Corley) Mower; two brothers: Milton Mower, and Gerald Mower; one sister, Joyce Perrault; one brother-in-law, Vernon Engele; and one nephew, Gerald Mower.
